Board Asks Affiliation With NSA

A resolution to re-affiliate with the National Students Association was made at the regular board meeting of the Associated Students of Michigan State University Tuesday night.

According to James M. Graham, president of the ASMSU, the resolution had been decided upon before the group became aware of the Central Intelligence Agency's financial support of the NSA.

The motion, if passed at ASMSU's meeting next Tuesday evening, would stipulate that the MSU delegate to NSA would vote only on issues affecting students in their role as students, according to Graham.

He added that the MSU delegate also would not vote on issues concerning international affairs.

The ASMSU has been a member of the NSA off and on three times during the past 10 years and last withdrew its membership in October of 1965.
